[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JUNE 30.

The President at Annapolis.

ANNAPOLIS, June 29.—The President was welcomed to the hall of the Constitutional Convention by Governor Swan and the President of the Convention. The President in his reply said he hoped the era of more kind feeling had arrived, and the land be no more drenched with our brothers' blood The President and Seward both made somewhat lengthy speeches.

Dexter Wins a Race

NEW YORK, June 29.—The match between Dexter and Lady Thorne, two mile heats to wagons, was won by Dexter in two straight heats

From Mexico.—Reported Execution of Maximilian.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A dispatch from New Orleans states that Maximilian was condemned to death and shot on June 19th. No particulars had reached Vera Cruz when the sloop sailed.

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—An Austrian sloop of war arrived at the Southwest Pass and landed with a telegraph dispatch for the Austrian Government. Her ensign was draped in deep mourning, but her officers were very reticent.

It was reported that the City of Mexico was captured on the 20th. No particulars had reached Vera Cruz when the sloop sailed.

The Mexican schooner Atlas arrived at the mouth of the Mississippi with exiled Imperialists and Mexicans who had been peremptorily banished. This confirms the report of the capture of Santa Anna. The Liberals tore down the American flag and asking Santa Anna took him to Campeachy The Liberals are shooting and hanging Imperial sympathizers

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Tribune says an official dispatch notifying the Austrian Minister of the execution of Maximilian on the 19th had been received. James refuses to give up the body to the Envoys of Austria. Napoleon has been notified of his death through the cable. The event produced great excitement among the foreign ministers. Nearly all called on Count Wydenbeck to console with him. Commodore Rae of the steamer Tuscany telegraphs to the Navy Department to the same effect. He confirms the fall of the City of Mexico on the 20th. Vera Cruz still holds out On account of the foreign legion Diaz orders no acceptance of the surrender It is believed that Juarez consented reluctantly to the execution of Maximilian He informed a messenger of our Government that he was disposed to spare his life, but the pressure of the Mexican leaders and people was too great to withstand.

Matters at Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The attendance of members enough to secure a quorum is doubtful. Democrats here agree that a supplemental reconstruction bill is necessary to clearly define the powers of military commanders, but the manner is to be determined

The Treasury Department gives notice to holders of seven-thirty notes, that it is now ready to exchange five-twenty bonds, redeemable in twenty years. The Department will consider that they have waived their right to exchange unless they are presented by August 15. Notes transmitted for conversion must always be indorsed to the Treasury by the party presenting, and when payable to another person being indorsed by such payee or legally authorized representative.

The Tribune's special says an extra session of the Cabinet will be called to examine the consideration of the Attorney-General's opinion. No final decision was yet reached at the previous session. Probably the entire proceedings will be furnished the press for publication.

The President will send a number of nominations to the Senate this week, including the Minister to Austria, Prussia, Mexico, Hoyti, and the Commissioner of Agriculture. It is quite certain that Raymond will be nominated Minister to Austria Campbell was ordered to Washington, where he received instructions to proceed to Mexico. He was ill of fever and could obtain no vessel for the journey. He telegraphed Seward to assign one, which was refused. He was unable to make the journey overland, and resigned.

The Times' special says the usual treasury statement of July 1st, will be omitted. The next exhibit will be made on the 1st of August There is a decrease of forty millions in the aggregate receipts since the last fiscal year.

Judge Wayne, of the United States Supreme Court, is lying at the point of death.

The Indian War on the Plains.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—A Tribune special says there are no signs of a speedy end to the Indian war. Five thousand troops have defied the whites to enter their territory. The Utah Indians are now disturbance.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, June 29.—A breakfast was given to Wm. Lloyd Garrison to-day. A large number of people were present, the principal speaker being John Bright and the Duke of Argyle.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The New York Herald's Rome special says that the religious commencement of the celebration of the eighteenth centenary anniversary of St. Peter's canonization, and that of the canonization of 25 Dutch, French and Spanish martyrs in Japan as saints, was one of the most gorgeous ever witnessed in the world since the days of King Solomon. The occurrence commenced with a general illumination of the city. St Peter's looked like a great church on fire At about seven AM a grand procession was formed of prelates, priests, monks and soldiers from the Vatican of St Peter's. The Pope was carried on his throne to St. Peter's, which was magnificently decorated with cloth of gold and silver, tapestries, splendid carpets and two hundred thousand yards of crimson silk The building was lighted with many millions of wax candles A hundred thousand people were inside the church, including the ex-King of Naples and fifteen cardinals, five hundred Cardinals and Archbishops, fifty thousand clergymen, priests, monks, nuns and soldiers from all parts of the world were present. The Pope celebrated the Gregorian Mass in Latin and Greek Two interruptions occurred The curtains of one window took fire, but the flames were promptly extinguished A panel bearing the splendor of the scene and cut his throat. The Pope at once consecrated the church stained with the blood of the suicide. Lizzen composed extra music for the Grand Mass, which was accompanied by a choir to the dome of St. Peter's and cannon at Castle St Angelo The observances continue one week

The Herald's London special gives an account of a breakfast given to Mr. Garrison at St James Hall. Four hundred ladies and gentlemen were present. John Bright complimented him for services in the cause of emancipation.

The Herald's special says that Russian duties on exported wooden articles, bark, roots and tar, have been abolished

ROME, June 29.—The Pope appeared in public after the religious ceremonies and was solemnly received by the most enthusiastic manifestations of attachment and devotion from an immense multitude of clergymen and laymen from all parts of the world

PARIS, June 30.—The Sultan of Turkey has arrived. Prince Napoleon has again taken up his residence in this city

INCREASE OF POPULATION.—The generality of people never stop to think how fast America is being filled up by emigration. The Missouri Republican presents the subject in the following practicable form—plain enough for any one but a Borneo to understand. It says.

Half a million of Europeans will have immigrated to this country before the end of the year, and more, probably will come next year. In twenty-four months a population in numbers equal to that of Missouri reaches our shores; in twice that time they could fill a state with a population as large as that of Illinois, and (their descendants included) an immigration of six years is more than sufficient to fill the United States with a population as great in numbers as that which our country had when it declared its independence

In Brazil the clergy are described as the lowest class of the community, not excepting the African slaves, and morals keep the level of those who are paid to fix the ideals of worship. Tin "Holy Ghosts," at seventy-five cents per hundred, are peddled among the people, and prayers against cholera, adorned with religious emblems, are sold at four cents apiece

QUEER NAMES.—The Nova Scotians are called "Blue Noses;" New Brunswickers, "Bailgonians;" Canadians, "Canucks," but now since the name of "Dominion" is given to the whole of these provinces, we think the most appropriate title would be to style us "Dominos" or "Minions."—Montreal Witness.

FROM IDAHO.

The following items are from the Silver City Avalanche of the 18th ult:

INDIAN SIGNS.

Unmistakable Indian signs have been seen this week between Ray's Ranch and Snake river on the Boise road. Evidence was seen that a council of them was held on the road near the divide. A petition was passed round and signed, by everybody and forwarded to General Crook, asking that an escort be provided for travel through the canyon between Reynold's creek and Snake river.

From the reported movement of troops in this direction, there is just reason for believing that the authorities are doing everything within their power to afford protection on the Idaho thoroughfares.

DECISION UPON THE HURDY GURDY LAW.

The Hurdy Gurdy Law passed by the last session of the Legislature and approved, December 31st, 1866, has been pronounced invalid by Chief Justice McBride, and the former law in full force. An agreed case was brought before the court with the above result. The decision is published in the World. The decision rests upon several points, but mainly upon that of unequal taxation, as the new law was not made applicable to the city of Lewiston, and in Idaho county the license is different from that of any other.

MASONIC.

For the information of those interested in matters pertaining to the Masonic order in Owyhee, we will state that the lodge here expects a charter authorizing a permanent organization about the first of July. No regular meeting this month.

MINING ITEMS.

The Morning Star mill keeps pounding away on Oro Fino rock, with results satisfactory. Another clean-up will be made to-morrow.

The Boorman mine is yielding very rich gold and silver ore at places not strongly suspiciened of containing the clear stuff, which will be accessible news to the stockholders.

The Cosmos mill has been running all the week, and all preparations are made for its constant continuance.

Teamsters have put the price of hauling quarts down to the lowest figure at which it seems possible to yield them any profit. From

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 3, 1867.

Maximilian.

The dispatches published this morning contain, from official sources, an announcement of the execution of Maximilian by the Juarez Government. The bloody drama was enacted on the 19th ultimo. Thus ends the attempt to establish a kingly rule over a people who have always been restive under even the restraints of the most nearly republican government they ever had. It was never probable that the experiment of the empire could succeed for many years, but the end has come sooner and with more tragical accompaniments than the enemies of the Imperial dynasty had ever expected. To Europe, the execution of Maximilian will seem barbarous and inexcusable. Only those who have seen their own beloved country involved in desperate struggles for national identity, can at all understand the feelings with which the Mexicans looked upon Maximilian. To them he was an usurper, tyrant, despoiler, enemy and then a prisoner, at their mercy. Hot-blooded, vengeful and comparatively unreasoning, the Mexican people looked upon their capture as their legitimate prey, to be treated as their passions only might suggest. Only his death could repair the injuries they felt he had done them. Their wrongs demanded a sacrifice and, though the world will say that the atonement exacted was horrid, who shall say that the Mexican people are altogether inexcusable or that there has not been something in their history of the last few years to prompt, under similar circumstances, even a more enlightened and christian people to such a deed. It must be remembered in charity that they were fighting for country and a government of their own choosing. Miserable and weak as their own administrations had been, still their government had been their own and they loved it. Yet conceding all these excuses for the bloody act, we cannot get rid of a shudder at the severity of the punishment inflicted. The liberation of the expotentate and his return in disgrace to the country whence he departed with such eclat so lately, would have sufficiently taught Europe the impossibility of grafting imperial actions upon republican roots, and would have stamped the Mexican people with such a character of magnanimity as would have gained them the sympathies and esteem of the entire christian world. Much as we rejoice that Mexico is free to govern herself, we cannot but regret the final act in her self-emancipation from Imperialism.

The Struggle not Ended.

The Albany Journal, the other day, made a remark which we thought timely and worthy of serious heed. It said:

> The great danger to the Union party at present is, that they view the struggle as ended, and look upon minor details of governmental theories as just grounds for differences of opinion, and in too many instances are discussing questions that belong no more to the present era of politics.

An illustration of this fact is found in the present condition of things in California. In fact, some of the bolting newspapers fortify themselves by saying that the causes which brought together the sometimes incongruous elements composing the Union party, having ceased to exist, it is not in the nature of things that the party itself should be perpetuated. Now, it is true that the war has ceased and most of the objects for which it was fought, have been settled as far as time has given opportunities for settlement. But the questions involved were of too great magnitude to be settled in a year or two, or, perhaps, five or ten years. The Government of the United States has enforced obedience upon the late rebel people; but it is not possible that the work of reconstruction and the necessary regeneration of political ideas can be considered as finished. Many of the elements in the South which combined to bring on the rebellion still exist, and if opportunity were given to them into new flame, might plunge us into [illegible]. It is probably true that a majority of the late rebels are disposed to accept the situation, but there are turbulent and vicious men yet among them, who are occupying positions of power and influence—placed there by the President of the United States. The President himself is at variance with all his vast power of patronage to thwart the will of the people as expressed through Congress. If opportunity should offer, The Copperhead party of the North, though professing to accept the results of the war as conclusive, everywhere announce their bitter hostility to everything Congress has done in the way of reconstruction. Should that party once get control of Congress, a single week would not elapse till it would join with the President and the worst element of the late rebel States, to utterly undo everything that Congress and the loyal people have done. The mission of the Union party cannot be completed till the great principles to the support of which all the loyal masses rallied during the war, shall be so thoroughly engrafted into the [illegible] the government that hate and treason can never uproot them. While there are yet found, men to contend against liberty, justice and equality before the law for all men, there is yet something for the Union party to do. It should never be dissolved till its impress be made for all time upon this country.

The Facile Nature of Democracy.

A Richmond Democratic orator recently told the colored portion of his audience, by way of influencing them to vote for him, that "he had a colored mammy when a child, and that he loved the colored people, as they must know." It was not long since when nothing could be heard from Democrats but vile words for negroes, and denunciation of negro suffrage. The "big, black, greasy buck niggers" were unfit either to exercise the right of suffrage or to marry the wife or sister of a Democrat. Their objections to the negro were founded, as we were told, upon immutable principles. We were led to suppose that Democrats would never consent that the negro should vote either for themselves or their opponents. Much less did we suppose that a Democrat could disgrace himself by admitting the possibility of mingling at the hustings with the "big, black, greasy backs," asking their votes and their influence. We may be pardoned for saying that our surprise reaches its extremest extent when we hear a shrivelled Democrat not only consent that a Richmond negro may vote for him, but actually aver that his own mammy was a colored woman, and that he loves the colored people. If it were not that it affords such a jolly illustration of the facile nature of Democracy, we should be inclined to be disgusted—at least, at the buck negro, whether "big," "black," or "greasy," who could be induced to vote for such a cussed mean hypocritical Democratic flunkey.

WHAT MAXIMILIAN COST THE MEXICANS.—Apropos to the News respecting the fate of Maximilian, we have a statement of what this attempt to force upon the Mexican people, a foreign ruler, cost in human lives. In seven months, from June to December, 1864, inclusive, the Liberal forces fought one hundred and twenty-two battles, with an aggregate of killed, 3,227; wounded, 2,560. During $365, there were three hundred and twenty-two engagements, in which 5,674 were killed, and 1,279 were wounded.

Of thirty-six California papers which favored the nomination of Bidwell, thirty-two are now doing battle for Gorham. The Union is the only paper of much note that is still disposed to kick up a muss, and that refuses to support the Copperhead nominees. It wants a new State Convention, to revise the ticket. That scheme is, however, impracticable, and the Union must yield or forever lose its character and influence as a Union journal.

STATE ITEMS.

During the month of June the Salem flouring mill shipped 2,135 barrels flour.

The Journal says the Ugly Flags will celebrate the 4th at Albany, by a grand parade.

Minser, indicted for arson at Salem, in setting fire to Durbin's stable, has been acquitted.

The Marion County Teachers' Institute is called to meet at Belpasi on second Tuesday in August.

There are to be trotting matches at the State Fair grounds on the 4th. Two purses, one of $100 and another of $50, are offered.

S. Scott, living three miles from Dallas, says the Salem Record, died on Sunday of injuries received when thrown from a wagon seventeen days ago.

The Albany steam mill closed out its stock of wheat last week, says the Journal, and grinding will not be resumed till the fall crop comes into market.

The editor of the Columbia Press says he has visited all the towns on the Columbia within the last four weeks and has found no place so lively as Umatilla. Umatilla is not dead yet.

Lieut. A. G. Force is now en route, says the Press, for the camp fires of Lo, with the 8th U. S. Cavalry. He takes four month's rations; he reports to Gen. Crook, at Snake river, and from thence will probably proceed to Willow Creek, where the red devils are said to resort. Lt. F. has seen service in Indian warfare, and believes in killing and not scaring Indians.

The following particulars of the fire last week near French Prairie, are sent us by Mr. I. E. Gleason: "The mill burned was Gleason & Bro.'s mill. The fire commenced between one and two o'clock in the afternoon. We were absent at campmeeting, and before discovered, the mill was all in flames. The saw-mill, planing-mill, blacksmith shop, with about one hundred thousand feet of of choice lumber was burned. By the superhuman efforts of both ladies and gentlemen we saved about half our lumber. So great was the interest manifested in our behalf that every one left the camp ground that could go. Our loss we estimate at about twenty-five hundred dollars. It undoubtedly was the work of an incendiary. We are engaged in rebuilding in the same place. We will have it running again in about two weeks. Machinery very little damaged.

CHARACTERISTIC.—Our Dalles friends expected to find in our issue of Monday morning, an advertisement of their programme for the Fourth of July celebration. The following note from the chairman of the committee of arrangements, will explain why the advertisement did not so appear:

DALLES CITY, July 2d, 1867.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Please insert in your Daily the enclosed advertisement. I sent copy to the Herald on Saturday last, requesting them to send slip to your paper, in order that it might appear in your Monday's issue, but to my regret they did not do so.

Very respectfully,
JOHN WILLIAMS,
Chairman Com.

That is exactly what's the matter. We had no intimation that the committee desired us to publish the advertisement till we received the above note enclosing it. This is not the first time that that sort of business courtesy has been practiced by the Herald. The advertisement will be found in this morning's paper.

Since the election of Mr. Flanders in Washington Territory, we have failed to notice in any of the Democratic newspapers a statement as to whether the result settled the question of negro suffrage, definitely. Before the election, we were told that, that was the issue. Why don't they give us their post-election views on that point.

VEXING.—An article in yesterday's OREGONIAN, through the carelessness of the editor (not the printer, this time) got vexatiously sandwiched in between the two extremities of another. The paragraph following the article entitled "Improved mail facilities" belonged to the article under the head "Specimen Democracy."

One of the most solemnly farcical things we can think of is to see an antiquated foo-foo Democratic editor hunting among the musty things of the ante-war period for an explanation of the causes of the late rebellion, which will relieve the Democracy from its responsibility.

A WORD ABOUT COLORS.—There are two colors that are very popular in our country, viz: the National colors and the Fondly Dye Colors. For the former we are indebted to the patriotic spirit of the American people; and for the latter to Howe & Stevens, one of the most enterprising firms in the country. The colors of each neither fade nor run. Sold by Smith & Davis.

PETROLEUM is being introduced in the Eastern Cities as a medium to produce steam, which is proving to be of great advantage to steamboat men, so much so that KOHN & FISHEL, No. 91 Front street, (in the Store formerly occupied by Weil Bros.) have made another reduction in the price of Fine and Custom-made Clothing and Gents' Furnishing Goods, giving every person a chance to appear respectable on the Fourth of July.

Photographs from card to life size. The new cabinet cards, &c., &c. Small pictures enlarged (retouched in India ink—painted in water-colors or oil by Mrs. E. J. Ramsey. Pictures that are fading can be reproduced in this way. All negatives taken in this gallery will be carefully preserved, and additional copies had. I have now on hand a very large collection of negatives, the names of which are recorded alphabetically in a book for that purpose that can be seen in the reception room.

A SURPRISE PARTY.—The members of Columbian Engine Company No 3 had a most happy surprise last evening. It so happened that the obliquitous reporter of the OREGONIAN became posted, and of course was on hand to print the items of interest which would transpire. About twenty ladies suddenly appeared, and made known their business. The gallant members of the Company at once set about exercising the hospitality so habitual to all firemen. At the proper time all were gathered in the spacious hall of the building. Miss Jennie Thompson stepped forward, holding in her hand a magnificent wreath of flowers, and in presenting the same to the Company, made the following remarks:

Mr President—In the name and on the behalf of these ladies present I present to you and the company over which you preside this wreath of flowers formed by their hands, and present it to you as a token of their kindly feelings for Columbia No. 3. Allow us to indulge a hope that you will not refuse it a place among the decoration of your hall.

In response, the President of the Company, Hamilton Boyd, Esq., made a few short and happy remarks, appropriate to the occasion. He received the wreath, and honored it with a conspicuous position in the center of a marble top table within the view of all present. While the ceremonies were being gone through with, other members of the company appreciating the promptings of hospitality, had with celerity cleared the large engine room of the apparatus and prepared it in good shape, that all might "trip the light fantastic," etc., and enjoy the mazes of a cotillion and waltz. After enjoying the privileges of a spectator for a short time, we with withdrew. The wreath presented was a beautiful piece of workmanship; flowers of every variety and line so intermixed and mingled as to create a most pleasing and magnificent wreath. To the wreath were attached three streamers, on the first of which was the motto: "Be Misses Jennie Thompson, Kate Mulligan, Mary Mackintire." On the second: "Presented to Columbia Engine Number 3." On the third "Conquer we must for our cause is just." The last is the well chosen motto of the company. Undoubtedly such an encouragement to our noble firemen is appreciated, and to do their duty faithfully will be to them greater consolation than any remuneration which could be granted outside of their own consciousness of having performed their part nobly and well.

EXCURSION OVER THE "BAR."—A passenger by the Grant gives us the following paragraph regarding a trip over the Columbia Bar on Sunday last: "We left Portland on Saturday morning about ½ past 8 on board the side wheel steamer U. S. Grant. The boat was pretty well filled with men, women and children, also a full cargo of freight. We arrived at Astoria a little after six. Considering the number of stoppages made and the heavy cargo we had on board, we made a quick trip. All of the pleasure-seekers on board seemed well pleased with the treatment they received. We spent a pleasant evening in Astoria and enjoyed one of those sound sleeps that can be found down here on the coast. Sunday morning, after enjoying a good breakfast, we were on board the Grant for the purpose of attending church at Fort Stephens. A run of ½ an hour brought us along side the wharf at this beautiful fort. After enjoying the luxuries of this beautiful place also a bath in the briny surf a short distance below the fort, we again went on board the boat with the intention of returning to Astoria, but to our great joy the captain proposed a trip over the famous Columbia Bar. This meeting with the approbation of the passengers, away we steamed for the mighty deep. In a very short time we were riding high on the billows. Having crossed the bar in safety, we ran about five or six miles out to sea and spoke the Fidelity from the Islands and exchanged the daily Oregonian for a number of copies of the Hawaiian Gazette. We also returned to Astoria all well pleased with the trip. All on board express confidence in the ability of the little boat to ride the foaming billows. A few heavy surges while on the Bar upset dishes, passengers, and only a few said "Now Yawk" over the ship's side."

EXCURSIONS ON THE FOURTH.—The Oswego will make an excursion on the Fourth of July to the Cascades, Capt John Wolf will be in command. The steamer will touch at Lescouver going and coming. A trip will also be made over the railroad at the Cascades. The excursionists, returning, will arrive at Portland at 5 o'clock, P. M. The fare for the trip is only $2 50. An excursion will also be made by the steamer Harper to Oswego and Oregon City leaving in tow a floating ball-room, neatly fitted up for dancing purposes. Tickets for the trip only $1. Children will be taken at half price. The steamer Grant will be at Astoria on the Fourth, and make an excursion to the various Forts. The Fannie Troup and Okanagan, hailed side by side, will make an excursion to Vancouver, to accommodate those desirous of attending the celebration of the Fourth at that place. The Couch will make an excursion trip to Fort Stephens, leaving this city today at 9 P. M., touching at Monticello and other points—Fare $3 a couple. Please refer to the various advertisements of these excursions. The steamer Senator is advertised to make an excursion trip to Oregon City, on the fourth, leaving the P. T. Co's dock foot of A street, at 7½ o'clock A. M., returning will leave Oregon City at about 4 P. M.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, JUDGE.—In this Court, yesterday, the following proceedings were had:

U. S. vs. A. Miller; motion to strike complaint from files denied.

U. S. vs. G. Mitchell; same motion as above.

U. S. vs. H. A Hyman, same motion as above.

U. S. vs. four barrels wine and two barrels whisky—no claimant appearing; decree of forfeiture entered and the same ordered sold.

U S vs. one-eighth cask of brandy, same proceedings as above.

In the matter of F. Harbaugh, a defaulting witness; fined $50 and costs of attachment.

U. S. vs. L. A. Davenport; continued until to-morrow morning.

Henry Brieke filed his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States.

Court adjourned till ten o'clock this morning.

JUDGE HOFFMAN'S COURT.—The trial of Mrs. E. M. Bath for obtaining a watch under false pretences was commenced yesterday, and will be concluded to-day. The evidence is not all in on the part of the defense. The attorneys in this case, M. F Mulkey for the State and Cyrus Dolph for the defendant, had a more than ordinary amount of sparring to indulge in. If his Honor had summarily shut off the wind of these enthusiastic advocates, we would have been in luck and had the result of the investigation to lay before the readers of the OREGONIAN—but lawyers will wrangle and almost fight, and then coquette each other up, as if they had been loving friends from childhood—it is the way of the profession. Albert Johnson, charged with larceny, was fined and the decision reserved till this morning. Another charge of larceny, in stealing a lady's black hat, was lodged against him, and will be investigated to-day.

SUTTON'S BOAT.—Mr. Sutton informs us that his new, peculiar, and odd-shaped boat, has proved a perfect success and sails with ease up to the largest, best and crack yachts—except one, which, he says, carries too much sail for his delicate craft. We gave up the idea of further day of describing Mr. Sutton's yacht, and could not give the reader a good idea of its shape, but we now have "struck it" at last, and a very short description it is. Whoops Mr S will not take offence but we think by knocking the angle off a smoothing-iron, then invert it, keep out the center, and you have a very good general idea of his spit ranch. We have no doubt that the principle upon which this boat is built could successfully be applied to larger crafts. We hope Mr. Sutton's energy will not abate till he has fully tested it.

RIDE FOR HORSES.—We have been kindly furnished with the bids opened yesterday at 12 o'clock, M., by Col. R. D. Babbitt, Assistant Quartermaster General of the army, for horses for this military district, to be delivered at Vancouver, W. T. The following are the bids per horse, and the names of the bidders. N. King bid $150; E. J. Ladd, $139; Dr. Ellis, $169 50; Joseph Teal, $134; Mr Clarke, 119; E. Schultz $160. The bidders were required to make a deposit of $1,500, as security that they would accept the contract if awarded to them, and also to give bonds for the faithful performance of the same if made by them. We were unable to ascertain the award of the contract, if any was made yesterday.

ATTORNEY AT JOKE.—Our friend McMillan almost caused us to perpetrate a joke upon him. While in the United States District Court Room, we overheard somebody speaking about ornamental bailiffs! Astonished, we turned around, and discovered that Mr. M it was, smoking the remark: We have inquired and he informed us that his Honor had appointed him ornamental bailiff—that a quantum suffice existed of all other kinds, and that he had been chosen to ornament the Bar with his presence. We quivered the Clerk and found that all was a joke, hence the fountain of justice will not be ornamented by Mac.'s presence, except semi-occasionally.

A SCHOONER.—On Monday last, some person improvised a sailing craft out of a piece of board about three or four feet in length and one foot in width and placed thereon a sail. It was started from the foot of some steps back of Higgins' soap factory and sailed majestically out upon the Willamette, with as many airs and frills as the Cupsmade or Sweeter. After winding its way about the several houses and almost sailing out well as ascending the river, finally returned to the very spot from whence it took its departure, as if fully rigged with an obedient rudder, in the hands of an expert seaman. This is extraordinary and must, of course, have been "a scratch."

SWARMS.—We understand that last week Indian agent Harvy was attempting to place on the proper reservation, a number of estray Indians, and that a writ of habeas corpus was issued and sent after him to show cause why he restrained said Indians of their liberty. The next agent appointed from some person or persons in Oregon City, for what object we did not learn, nor what are the persons restrained of their liberty were back Indians or "dusky maidens of the forest."

I. O. of O. F.—The members of this order who visited Vancouver to attend the installation of officers at the Lodge in that place, left at the appointed time, 5 o'clock P. M., Monday, and returned at 2 A. M Tuesday morning. They report having had an excellent time. After the installation ceremonies had closed, a splendid lunch was set out, to which justice in its fullest sense was done. All returned well pleased with the trip.

ANNUAL VISIT.—It used to be customary for the host to feed the visitor, but times are not as "they used to was." We were reminded of this yesterday when Mr. William C. Hitchcock visited the OREGONIAN office, and presented to the persons therein employed with a generous lot of magnificent cherries, of the varieties known as the "Governor Woods," and "Royal Ann," for which he receives the thanks of the whole force.

RECEIPTS.—The receipts of the Festival last evening at Washington building, amounted to $140. Had the ladies secured a hall of the capacity of the Oro Fino, the receipts would have far exceeded the sum realized. The ladies of the office return thanks for the kind remembrance of them by the ladies of the Festival, who not satisfied with one instalment of good things, sent the second, which was as acceptable as the first.

"TIS COME."—Every member of the Society is requested to meet at the club-room this (Wednesday) evening, that each may know the exact time and place of rendezvous on the evening of the Fourth. Don't fail to be there at 8 o'clock, P. M.

FIRE.—This morning about quarter-past one o'clock the fire bells sounded the alarm of fire. The Oregon Iron Works, owned by a corporation of whom Messrs. McCully & Coffin are heavily interested, was found to be on fire. The engines promptly responded. Nos 1, 2, 3 and 4 were on the ground, and No. 3 threw the first water. The fire was first discovered in a building near the foundry, on the southwest of the main building, and lost a few feet from it. The efforts of the firemen were in vain, and as we are writing the destroying element is fast consuming the object of its grasp. By proper estimation a residence on the north of the foundry was save. The loss can only be guessed at, being immense perhaps $100,000 would cover it. Whether there was any insurance we could not learn. About 75 men will, by this sad casualty be thrown out of employment. Whether the fire was caused by acid or incendiarism, we did not even form a conjecture. Some little, and only a little, property was saved. The steamer of No 2 came on the ground fifteen or twenty minutes after the other engines and manned to throw water on the fire, but we fear too late to render any service, as we learned that the cistern had been emptied of its contents, and no more water to be had. Vigilance Hook & Ladder Company was promptly on the ground and rendered efficient service. To-morrow we hope to publish full particulars.

ARRIVED.—The steamer Grant arrived yesterday from Astoria, bringing an assorted cargo of freight. She made a trip over the Bar, and hailed the Jane A Falkinburg, from the Sandwich Islands. The Falkinburg left on the 6th and brings dates to the 5th, and is freighted principally with sugar, to McCraken, Merrill & Co. She will probably arrive this morning in tow of the Couch.

CELEBRATION AT THE DALLES.—A grand celebration of "America's" birth-day will take place at the Dalles. All the different organizations, both civic and military, will take part. Judge Boise will deliver the oration of the day. In the evening a great display of fire-works will be had. People from every where, are invited to attend and to participate in the good time to be had.

DRUNK.—Last evening at a late hour as we were passing up First street, our astonished gaze fell upon a bundle of humanity laying upon the sidewalk, with a friend, acquaintance or humane stranger, pouring cold water upon his head, to revive him from the stupor produced by lightning whisky. He was a young man, twenty-five or twenty-six years old, and from Rainier.

DECIDED TO GO.—At the eleventh hour Multnomah Engine Company No. 2, have concluded to go to Vancouver to assist in celebrating the Fourth. Undoubtedly a fine time will be had. Notice has been given to other companies desiring to accompany them, to meet at the Engine House of No. 2 this evening at 7½ o'clock.

RECORDER'S COURT.—In the report of the proceedings of this court on Monday morning, there was one case, State vs. Ripley, in which we omitted to give the first name of the defendant, which is Jacob. We make mention of this again as the name was A C. Ripley, councilman elect from the First Ward.

NEW STEAMER.—Capt. Koenn, of the U. S. Grant, has determined to build another steamer, about 75 or 80 feet in length, the capacity of which will be about equal to the old steamer Cowlitz. The new steamer is to run from Rainier and Monticello to the Cowlitz landing, and will be completed in two or three months.

OUR ROCK.—We were in error as to our location of the quarry from which the rock for cement purposes was obtained. Instead of being on Gray's river, as we placed it, it is immediately across the river from Astoria; and also is owned by Mr. Francis Hopkinson instead of a Mr. Cummins.

ATTENTION FENIAN GUARDS.—By a notice published this morning you are called upon to rust at your armory on Thursday, the Fourth of July, at 12 o'clock, M., to prepare for parade and inspection.

ALL RIGHT.—Mr. Max Rosenberg, one of the gentlemen thrown from the buggy last Sunday, and not Mr. Kolberg, as we had it) is now quite well of the injuries he received by that accident.

STRANGE.—By some peculiar fatality the name of Chas. F. Wiegand so appeared in our issue yesterday morning, that it was hard to be recognized by his most intimate friends.

PRODUCE.—The Senator brought down yesterday the following freight: 181 bales wool, 3 lf bales do., 2 bales woolen goods, 49 bales paper, 701 bundles ditto.

TREASURE.—The steamer Canada brought down from the upper country yesterday $10,000 in treasure, for Wells, Fargo & Co.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE DESTITUTE.—While a few weeks the citizens of Cincinnati have contributed about $5,000 for the assistance of people in the Southern States who are in destitute circumstances, and for the benefit of those who have but small means, Barman Bros. are selling A No. 1 cassimeres, $13 50 to $75; A No. 1 black frock coats from $10 to $40; dress pants from $5 to $11; shirts $1 50 to $2 25 wool rubber ties 50 cts.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF IDAHO—BOISE CITY, I. T.—Organized March 11th, 1867, (with circulation) under Act of Congress, approved June 3d, 1864. Authorized capital $500,000. Paid up capital, $100,000. E. M. Bulleit, President. C. W. Moore, Cashier. Collections of Notes and Accounts on the principal places in Idaho Territory promptly attended to. Sight and Exchange for Gold or Currency on this Bank can be purchased of Ladd & Tilton, Portland, Oregon.

A SPLENDID INSTRUMENT.—We saw, yesterday, at J. L. Parrish & Co's something new in the way of an organ—a French instrument called the Organ Harmonicon—invented by Alphonse Rodolphe. It is a very considerable modification of the organ as we have them, from the American manufactories. It is provided with sixteen stops, each of which exercises a distinct and peculiar effect upon the tone. The base stops are the forte, Jeu Bonix, (soft, sweet) Basson, Clarion, Bombos, English Horn; the treble stops are Expression, Tremelo, Scotch Bagpipe, Flute, Clarionette, Flo, Hautbois, Voix Celeste, Forte, and Knee or Full Expression. The effect of these stops in changing the tone is most surprising. For instance: from the flute to Voix Celeste with Full Expression, the tone changes from what sounds precisely like a soft flute, to the full grand harmony which we would expect from an Angel choir—what the name imports. The Key-Board is movable and can be adjusted to any key, to any instrument, or to the voice of any singer. Other changes are no less surprising. The instruments are of the most perfect workmanship and of the highest finish, have taken the first medals at all the great European Expositions. The prices range from $175, to $500. Persons in want of an instrument should call and see them, for it is impossible to get a correct idea of them, except from personal inspection. J. L. Parrish & Co, are sole agents for the Pacific coast.

LETTERS FROM SITKA.

[From the British Colonist, July 24th]

NEW ARCHANGEL, June 16, 1867.

After saying good bye to Victoria, I retired to my stateroom on the Eadelitter to awake in the morning and find the boat in Nanaimo Bay, where we coaled We afterwards landed at Fort Rupert, where we took on wood and then came on straight to Sitka.

It is a pleasant trip to make, to say nothing of the advantages in the way of business

New Archangel is situated on the Isle of Sitka The island is about 100 miles in circumference Gold and copper are said to abound. There are about 300 Russians here and about 800 Indians The Indians are fenced off in their own reservation and kept apart from the whites. The building are old, some of them having been built forty years, the town seems ancient

Sitka has all the natural advantages for a fine town some day A number are taking up lots, intending to establish themselves in business Mr O'Dwyer, his son and I, have each taken up a lot and are now busily engaged in building our stores

Since my arrival here we have had a visit from the Hudson Bay Company's steamer Otter H M S Sparrowhawk is now here, and I will send my letter by her

The California steamer is expected every day We are having fine weather, it being as pleasant as in Victoria. We can get no goods here from Victoria without paying duty. The goods that came up on the Otter are in bonds.

This day I had a talk with Governor Seymour, I told him we had taken up lots, and he asked if the Russians allowed it, when I told him it was American soil now.

Yours, truly,
DAVID SHIRPSER.

EXTRACT FROM A PRIVATE LETTER.

NEW ARCHANGEL, SITKA, June 10, 1867.

MY DEAR : I arrived here on the 6th inst. I like the place better than I expected I would. There is a Greek and a Lutheran church here. They are one day ahead of our time. our Saturday is their Sunday, and our Sunday is Monday with them here The Greek Church is a fine building and nicely finished inside Sunday commences here at six o'clock on Friday evening and ends on Saturday evening. A. and myself attended divine service in the Greek Church on the evening of Friday and ten o'clock the next day. There is 4 Greek Bishop and two or three priests here. The priests are not allowed to shave or cut their hair. The service in the Greek Church, as well as the vestments used, has some resemblance to the service of the Catholic Church. The Bishop assisted the priests in the ceremonies. Several times during the service the whole congregation kiss the floor of the church, and three times during the service the sanctuary is closed up from the view of the people by folding doors of curious workmanship; there was also some good singing in the Greek language. The congregation appeared to be very devout. The Russians count their time differently from what we do; for instance, I received a receipt from the Russian Fur Company on the 9th June, and they dated it the 28th of May. The Lutheran Church is for the use of the Fins. Since I have been here the bishop and a number of Fins and Russians have left on a steamer and ship for Siberia. In this town there are about 600 Russians and Fins (men, women and children), and 800 Indians. The days are very long here. I am writing this letter to you at three o'clock in the morning with the daylight, and I could have light enough to write at eleven o'clock at night. There was no English speaking person here until the Fidelsiter's crowd were landed. The Russian Governor told us we could take up any lots that had no improvements on them. We then commenced staking off lots. The Russians wondered what was the matter with us; I believe they thought we were crazy. I cannot say if we can hold them, but I think we can. I have taken up two lots. There are no working men here except those in the employ of the Russian Fur Company, and they cannot be had. There is some lumber but very little; but there is a saw mill, and it may be in working order in a few days. I think a load of lumber would pay. Carpenters could get work here. The finest kind of fish is in great abundance. The Indians are not allowed in town here.

EXTRACT FROM ANOTHER PRIVATE LETTER.

NEW ARCHANGEL, SITKA, June 10, 1867.

Dear ——: The inhabitants here are composed of the Russians and Fins. The Russians belong to the upper class and are members of the Greek Church. The Fins adhere to the Protestant worship. The Russians are far superior to the Fins in everything: they are very polite and friendly when they meet Mr. Kohl or any of his passengers, they salute and shake hands with them. I forgot to mention that in the Greek Church there are no seats and no person ever sits down, not even the Governor, they stand during the service unless when kneeling or touching the floor with their heads. The men and women keep apart, each occupying opposite sides in the church. A Russian Captain (who speaks English) told me that the Greek Church is the old Catholic Church and the Latin (or Catholic Church) separated when we allowed seats and did not [illegible] has arrived. Capt. Cooper will take my letters to Victoria. [illegible] any information as to what [illegible] are going to take with regard to the new territory I cannot form an opinion about advising any one to come here yet. After the arrival of the California steamer I will be better able to form an opinion as to the prospects people may have here. The goods I had on the Fidelsiter I got permission to land from the Governor.

July 17th—A splendid day. Selling goods for leather. The carpenters I made a contract with to build my house struck for more wages after it was half finished.

Tell friend Higgins to send me a few numbers of the Colonist. I think I can get a few subscribers for his paper. I will pay him in feather (the currency of the country). I may send him a few lines sometimes to keep him posted about matters here. It will take me sometime before I can leave here, so I can say with Burns:

"A chiel's among ye taking notes
And faith he'll prent them."

Mr. Kohl will bring some of the leather money to Victoria; he will let you have some of it. Mr. Kohl and Capt. Erskine have shown me a great deal of kindness; anything they could do for me they did cheerfully. When I mentioned carpenters, I should have said handy men who could build a log house. There is not a good carpenter in New Archangel.

[The "leather money" alluded to in this letter, is dressed sheepskin, and passes current at the value stated on its face. It is issued by the Russian Fur Company and is redeemable at their head office in St. Petersburg—ED. COLONIST.]

The Release of Jeff. Davis—Opinions of the British Press.

[From the London Times, May 15th.]

The Americans, when they interceded with our Government for the lives of the Fenians convicted in Canada, did certainly not preach where they were unprepared to practice. Since the conclusion of the war, the North, though severe on the Southern community, has given away to no animosities against individuals. No one has been put to death in America for what the North has declared to be treason; very few have been molested if they choose to acquiesce in the restored rule and to take no part in politics. The leniency of the Government has, however, been carried to its furthest point by the release on bail of Jefferson Davis after a captivity of two years. Whether he will ever be brought to trial seems to be still uncertain, but we may almost predict that in any case the punishment inflicted on him will not be extreme. We can see that in the case of America this is the wisest policy, and that it is best not to give renewed rancor to the animosities of the South by any act of severity. A similar forbearance would have its good effects in Ireland also

[From the London Telegraph, May 15th]

At last the ex-President of the late Confederate States of America has been released from his captivity. Jefferson Davis is no longer a prisoner in Fortress Monroe. The telegram which conveys the announcement explains that the release is on bail, and that Davis is under bonds to appear before the Court in November next, but it is evident that the intention to bring him to trial has been abandoned. Indeed, his imprisonment has been more than a year past considered a reproach to public justice, and the most eminent of the Republican leaders have not scrupled to denounce the prolonged confinement without trial as a disgrace to the country. The case, however, was one with which no Government would have found it easy to deal. At the time when the assassination of Lincoln had thrown the whole country into a frenzy of passionate desire for vengeance, and when Davis was supposed to have instigated the crime, the Government might easily have obtained a verdict against him at the close of the war Fortunate was it for the good name of the American people that difficulties hindered such a proceeding till the passions of the country had time to cool

[From the London Star May, 15th.]

No more remarkable proof could be afforded of the clemency of the Americans towards political offenders At one time public feeling was strong against Davis, now it has cooled down into indifference, if not contempt.

The permanent organization of the Iowa Centenary College has been made, with George C. Wright as President

Senator Stewart in San Francisco

The San Francisco Bulletin of June 21st gives the following report of Senator Stewart's speech in that city on the previous evening

Senator Stewart spoke of the doubt which Europe had expressed regarding what they were pleased to call American experiments, which they declared would be failures because they did not understand the effect of the application of the great principle of equality. He touched upon the aspiration of the founders of the nation and the success, without parallel which had followed their efforts, but deplored the foresight which permitted slavery, at a time when it was an weak and powerless as to be almost beneath the notice of the authors of the Constitution, to obtain recognition and place among our institutions He reviewed the growth of slavery and the attitude of its supporters to the nation at large He called attention to the organization which led to the election of Lincoln, and of the difficulties and danger which beset the President's life even before his arrival at Washington. After recounting the progress of the war and the slowness and unwilling ness with which slavery, after two years of fighting, was touched, he spoke of the proclamation of freedom as being the commencement of the war of the Union, for justice and human equality. The heretofore victorious rebels were beaten on every field, and we had 200,000 negro troops under arms, performing deeds of valor as distinguished as those of any white troops He said it seemed to him as if Providence had decreed that the liberty should depend upon that of the negro, to teach them that it is their duty as well as their interest to do unto others as they would they should do unto them. It was wondrous strange how they have been led, step by step, in this matter, and how little they had really had to do with directing it After the war it was known by the friends of Lincoln that he would not be harsh with rebels—was disposed to give the loyal slave holder every consideration He was assassinated Johnson, he (the speaker) was willing to admit, places faith in the rebels—believed they would maintain the pledges of freedom given to the negroes by the nation, and would act with magnanimity toward the loyal men in the South and trust them and their families with fairness. But when the Thirty-ninth Congress assembled it was discovered that the rebels in all the States were enacting laws that enforced slavery under a new guise, that they were treating the Union men with cruelty and oppression; that many hundreds of northern men who had gone there with labor and capital to aid in restoring the prosperity of the country were driven out, because it was thought that free labor would interfere with the execution of the new slave laws. They drove out those who had fought on the side of the Union. Congress, by conciliatory measures, attempted to remedy this state of affairs, but all such attempts were useless. Every law passed was declared unconstitutional or treated with disrespect by all the Courts in the rebel States. The Freemen's Bureau was organized, which had some power within itself, by being supported with a strong military force But while the Government through this bureau was spending millions feeding both whites and blacks, who had become destitute through the overturning of the relation of labor to capital, the very men who were receiving the bounty were plotting against the power that gave it, and were still scheming to secure the labor of the negro as a slave. There is such a deep-seated idea among the rebels of the right of a white man to command the labor of his colored neighbor that it is next to impossible to eradicate it. But to this effect Congress proposes to amend the Constitution, as it was found that the laws of the country were without force in the South; that free speech and free labor would never be tolerated till the negro had power to protect himself. Much discussion was had in Congress as to what was best to be done. It was admitted that they might keep the rebels in proper subjection by a strong military force which would cost millions annually to maintain. But such a plan would not benefit the country—would not encourage immigration or the investment of capital in developing the rich resources of the South. After various plans had been submitted, it was finally decided that the ballot should aid the bullet in bringing the rebels into subjection to the law. Rebel hate and scorn of Northern men and free labor left no alternative; so they adopted the ballot as the best means for restoration of peace They had good authority for so doing; the Declaration of Independence declares all men equal before the law. They saw that foreigners who came among them were not respected till they became naturalized and had the ballot in their hands that it was the ballot that made the weak strong; and they knew that the State could pass laws that would injure any large number of voters. So, after a long struggle, we finally decided to give the negro the right to vote, and sent the army to secure them that right, and the South has at last accepted the situation, not for the love of the negro, but because he has the power to vote and they covet his new power; and free men can now go to the South in safety, as the rebels no longer fear his interference with the negroes. As long as the hope of saving any portion of the "peculiar institution" remained they took every means to save it. But now that their hope is overthrown, there will be no trouble in their reconstruction. But is there danger of this right of the negro to vote not being adopted? Connecticut went 700 majority against it. It is probable that California will not follow such an example. The 20,000,000 of loyal men of the North, who maintain that all men have the right to be free, look to the growing empire on the Pacific for sympathy. They expected California would stand up in favor of freedom, justice and equal rights to all men. Most of the Southern men are in favor of coming into the Union on the principle of equal rights, and they may yet be again all united in brotherhood. Should they who heard him not say: "We meant what we said when we were in favor of freeing the slaves, and we intend the negro shall be free; and to secure his freedom we mean to give him the great weapon to secure it—the ballot." Would California stand by her record during the war, and give the negro who fought for the Union the power to protect himself against those who fought against it? If California voted for the negro's right to vote, so would New York and Pennsylvania; but if the Golden State failed on this momentuous point, it would protract the struggle for years. If California went wrong on this question, he feared for the peace of the country—he feared for the safety of the Government. There would be another rebellion, but the reaction, though terrible in its effects, would only be short in duration; for the great God of Nations had decreed that slavery should not exist on this continent. They could not live in a country where there were 500,000 Union men's graves and permit the cause for which they died to perish. They could not live in a country in which there 1,000,000 widows and whose husbands and fathers fell in the righteous cause of freedom, and suffer that freedom to slip from their grasp after their sacrifices and devotion had placed it in their power. They could not look in the faces of the men who fought to save their liberties if they refused to preserve them If California went wrong on this point, see what would be the result. The States on the Pacific are blessed with the most favored portion of the republic. The people at the East look to these States as destined to become a great empire, they wish them to become such—are willing to make every effort to assist them to do so. It must not be forgotten that it was California's loyalty and liberality toward the cause of the Union which prevented the sale of the mineral lands to help to pay the national debt and the soldiers of the Union—a plan which was agitated by men of influence, but instead of selling the mines, Congress gave them to the miners. Had their representatives come from a disloyal State, did they think this great gift would have been given? Their loyalty had secured for them the Pacific Railroad and the line of steamers connecting their port with Japan, which must enrich their State beyond all others in the Union These public lands are all they (the Californians) asked for, and all had been given because they were loyal Their fellow citizens in the Atlantic States wanted to see San Francisco, if not the first, the second city in the Union Did they want to make these people their enemies by encouraging slavery, which they detested? Did they wish to prolong the present struggle by giving a gleam of hope to the rebels that they sympathized with their cause? If California indorsed the action of Congress, slavery was dead, if they did not, it is not dead, but live to remod on their children, who would have to fight the battle over again, for the Union and slavery could never exist in peace together again Let the vote of California be condemnatory of Congress and there would be a reaction and another struggle for supremacy between liberty and slavery, and although there was no doubt of the final triumph of liberty, it would require blood and treasure to bring the monster to its present condition Justice, humanity and equality before the law for all men are recognized as right by rebel generals, statesmen and legislatures Would they stop the work? Let California stand by those principles and sustain the Union cause Let her stand by her friends at the East, who are anxiously waiting her action Let her record be right on this great issue. Let her not lend the forlorn hope of slavery's forces Let every citizen of California stand by the Union, and give every man within it the rights that are guaranteed in the Constitution. Whatever divisions may creep into their party organization, they must win the election or they would be considered as taking the back track They must carry the Union flag triumphant in this campaign They owed it to themselves, to the martyred dead, and to every principle of right and duty.

FROM KOOTENAI.

The following letter we clip from the Walla Walla Statesman

WILD HORSE CREEK, June 6, 1867

Editor Statesman—Since you last heard from me, nothing new in the way of mining discoveries On the 24th ult., our people were thrown into a gloomy state of excitement by the announcement of the death or murder of our much respected officer, John R Lawson, who in the performance of duty, in arresting a horse thief, Charley Brown, who had stolen three horses at Colville, was shot and killed instantly. The whole people were in arms and after him, yet he has escaped thus far. Eight or ten are on his track, down the Moyea He cannot escape in any country, for the murder of this man calls for vengeance Our friend and citizen, John R Lawson, murdered by a jail bird and horse thief! We can hardly realyse it

Still further to add to our sorrow, on the same day, and nearly the same hour, the Hon. I B Goggan, (Gold Commissioner for Kootenai, died There seemed to be gloom in the very heavens that day, and some of our citizens feel it yet. We have met with a heavy loss

We are in hourly expectation of news from new diggings, and I hope to be able to give you some information Yours, SINE TREMORE

Since receiving the letter of our correspondent, news has reached us that Brown was overtaken by a pursuing party, and refusing to surrender, was shot and instantly killed. We further learn that good paying diggings have been struck on Findley creek. The discovery had caused great excitement, and good times were anticipated.

Mammoth Remains

On Monday, the 24th inst., a company of Chinese miners discovered part of the remains of some large animal, probably a mammoth or mastodon, while drifting in Missouri Gulch, about three miles from town. On Tuesday we visited the place, in company with Mr. J. M. Sutton, and had the satisfaction of digging out a piece of a tusk, about three feet in length, seven and a half inches in diameter, and weighing about seventy five pounds. Lying on the ground was a piece of tusk, taken from the drift about twenty feet below the surface, and in a fair state of preservation, which measured six feet and a half in length, and would probably weigh one hundred pounds. From the appearance of the latter, we should judge that when on the animal, it was not less than eight or nine feet in length. Two teeth were found, that show that the jaws from which they came belonged to an animal of extraordinary size They are molars, have the appearance of being the back teeth, from the lower jaw, and are in a remarkable state of preservation, the enamel on them being almost perfect, but much discolored by contact with the blue clay in which they were imbedded. The upper surface or indented portion measures seven and a half inches in length by three and a half in width, each tooth weighing three pounds—from the lower edge of the enamel to the end of the root, it measures about six inches, and it is difficult to realize the immense jaws to which they belonged.

A close examination of the teeth, and reference to Cuvier, proves conclusively that they belong to a Mastodon, the bones of which have never been found except on the continent. In addition to the above, a rib nearly seven feet long, a portion of one of the shoulder blades, and the upper bone of the fore leg have been found; in the latter the articulation is nearly perfect, and its immense size would lead us to believe that the animal must have been eleven or twelve feet in hight. We have no room for speculation as to how or when these remains of a gigantic and wonderful race of animals were left here; but if we admit the correctness of scientific theories, we can calculate that they have been here over four thousand years. They are now in possession of Mr. Sutton, who intends preserving them for the gratification of those who are curious in such matters.—Oregon Sentinel.

RUSSIAN AMERICA.—The Honolulu Advertiser has an article on the trade with Russian America, from which we take the following extract:

All the papers which have come to hand greatly underrate the value of the new territory—the highest estimate of the trade of Russian America gives not exceeding three hundred thousand dollars annually. It will be seen from the following statistics, furnished us by Messrs. Hackfeld & Co., who have been agents at this port for the Russian American Fur Company, as well as the Russian Government, for the past fifteen years, that it is much more valuable. The skins and furs collected in this territory amounted, during 1866, to about $1,500,000. These consist of sea otters, fur seals, blue foxes, white foxes, muskrats, minks, bears and beavers. Of fur seals alone, 70,000 were brought to Honolulu last year, valued (at cost price) at $300,000. These furs are collected under instructions from the company in St. Petersburg, which directs just what number shall be obtained and shipped to London, New York and St. Petersburg, and no more furs are allowed to be taken and sent than what have been ordered, lest those markets become overstocked. Heretofore American whalemen have not been allowed to land for business purposes on any part of this territory; hereafter trading and fishing companies can and will be established for carrying on the codfishery, seal fishery, as well as whale oil fishery, all of which can more profitably prosecuted with establishments on the Islands or main land, in close proximity to the fishing grounds, than under the present mode. Taking these facts into consideration, and saying nothing of the timber, coal and mining wealth of the territory, the purchase of Russian America is one that must prove valuable to the United States, and which will give a great impetus to American trade and commerce in the Pacific.

PROGRESS OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.—"Stanley," writing to the Chicago Republican from the Bijou Hills, Dakota, April 20th, says:

Wonderful, indeed, is the rapidity with which the rolling hills are cleft, road graded, ties laid down, and the rails secured in the places, and with as much regularity and order as the best of mechanism. The Union Pacific Railroad, Eastern Division, is positively and undoubtedly an established fact. Within the short space of five weeks, a most surprising change has happened. From Harker to Junction City the bottom lands are teeming with ranches lately built, and the voice of the plowman is heard where but two short months ago the war whoop of the savage echoed in the greenwoods of the smoky Pedee Prairie line the road, all bound for the West. Pilgrims, with their little all, their wives, children and earthly substance, flock in numbers and answer your queries as to whither bound, with "to the West." The railroad seems to be contagious; everybody seems to be imbued with railroad haste and energy. The city of Salina commences to raise her head A magnificent depot is to be built to meet the demand for storage addressed to this live city. The cars run here regularly, passengers alight and inquire anxiously, "how is biz?" and go away again, delighted to hear that "biz is tip-top." Passengers can procure tickets for Salina, and in four weeks will be able to get them for Fort Harker. Squads of Irishmen, under energetic taskmasters, are scattered all along working with might and main, as if they had an interest in the road apart from their daily bread or monthly wages But "Excelsior" is the motto, and Westward do empire and civilization wend their way General Hancock intends to go to Fort Harker to sign a treaty with the famous Black Kettle.
